SUMMER ENTERTAINING ALREADY BEGUN-SOME

Newport, R. I., July 4 (Special).-Newport is fast approaching the height of her season. With nearly all the cottagers in their summer homes, all the hotels, big and little, receiving guests, and the Casino concerts and dances attracting the fashionable folk, there is lacking now of the full tide of summer life only the big entertainments at the cottages, which will begin to come quickly now. Of course, the horseshoe plazza at the Casino will not be crowded with a gay throng at the first few morning concerts, nor will the white and gold theatre be filled with dancers or spectators at the opening hops of the season. Yet there will be a erajual increase in the attendance at these features of life in society, and before many days have passed announcements of dinners and luncheons, and perhaps a few small dances at private houses, will be made of the features of the season is the unusually large number of estates in the possession of new owners this summer. The winter and spring were prolific in big real estate transfers, notably the sale Vineland, on the Cliffs, to H. McK. Twombley, of New-York. As a result Newport will number this year among its cottage owners and summer residents many strangers, who have never before spent a season here, or who could not be counted as regular arm-weather dwellers here. Such sales indicate the permanent value of these costly estates, and a constant and healthy demand for good sites and handsome properties.

The announcements of social affairs of a brilliant character have begun to be made, and the first of these to be heralded is a big ball by the Goelets. There is apparently to be no lack of titled peronages here during the summer. Already information comes from various sources of the contemplated visits of a number of such people. These are lmost or wholly from England, and in many cases American heiresses who have married into the British nobility. Their coming is therefore a sort of home returning, with new dignity and rank. They will all be welcomed by the social leaders.

To-day for the first time the music of the Casino chestra was heard at the opening morning co e first in a series which will be continued daily for two months or more. To-morrow evening the Sunday night concert will be given, and on Monday evening the first dance of the summer will attract a The bathing season has already small number. The bathing season has already opened well. Every house at Bailey's Beach, at the Bellevue-ave., has been taken for the season, and many of the summer cottagers, as usual, have accommodations at the more democratic Easton's Beach. All the fashionable fishing clubhouses are open, the hotel keepers report business as good or better than last year at this date, and only one balf-store on upper Bellevue-ave, remains unrented. an excellent index of the prospect for a good business season

FISHING AT FIRE ISLAND.

Fire Island, July 4 (Special).—The guests at Fire Island are rejoicing this week because the fish have appeared, and to-day the waters of the Great South Bay and the Atlantic are full of them. There have been many fishing parties active. A week ago Norman Schultz, of Summit, N. J., with Charles L. Jenks, hauled in twenty-two fine specimens of blue-Jenks, hauled in twenty-two fine specimens of bue-fish, and the haul would have been greater had not a shower driven the party in. Sheepshead have been seen off the Surf Hotel dock this week. John O'Nell, Charles Kennedy, general Eastern pessenger agent of the Rock Island, and E. C. Schafer, president of the Germania Bank, are regis-tered here. Senator Parsons, of Rochester, with Mrs. and Miss Parsons, arrived Tucsday. The Drexel cottage is now occupied by Mrs. Joseph Drexel with her daughter, Miss Josephine Drexel.

AT THE DELAWARE WATER GAP.

Delaware Water Gap, July 4 (Special).—There were to-day excursions down the river, riding and driv-ing parties, fireworks and a dance at each of the hotels. There are a great many people here now, and every day more come. There was a pretty wedding in the village Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening, when Miss Hannah Staples, of this place, was married to Amille Seymour Dent, of New-York. The decorations were palms and dates. Miss Viola L. Parker, of New-York, is a guest of the Misses Brodhead at the Elitatiany. F. M. Phoebus. of the Hygen Hotel, Old Point Comfort, is also staying here. The first progressive euchre party of the season was played on Thursday evening, and the prizes were gold and silver. The fishermen are having a hard time just now because the Delaware is abnormally high and the bass refuse to bite. Swimming is now in vogue, and the bicycle riders are plentiful. The Lackawanna Railroad Company is laying out a pretty lawn and flower beds on a strip of land opposite the station.

larize the noble game of chess, and writers who make it their business to report any controversies in clubs are not doing the right thing. This practice ought to be condemned all the more when It is found that malice is the real reason for publishing reports which must necessarily hurt the club in particular and chess in general. Sometimes, of course, it is the duty of a writer to expose weak government of an organization and explain to the public why a club which ought to be successful experiences failures. Such exposures are brought about for the sole purpose of mending the ways and policies of those to whom the members of a club have entrusted the government of any particular organization.

Chess Caub, which organization, under the guidance of President Marean and his lieutenant, Mr. Elwell, has done more for chess in America than any other dozen clubs taken together. After winning the Metropolitan trophy, Pillsbury, the vice-president of the club, carried away first honors in Hastings; next, the Americans, under the auspices of the Brookyn Club, won the international trophy from an English team, while for next season the prime movers were about to arrange for cable matches with Russia, Austria, Germany, France and Great Britain. Surely this shows sufficiently well that things are confincted rightly.

The other day an article supposed to be written by one of the directors of the cub appeared in print, and the paper publishing it, so it is understood, "gave the writer away." On being informed of this, President Marcan asked for the resignation from the directory of the writer of the article, and when the latter 'cfused to comply with the wishes of the president, Mr. Marcan himself offered his resignation, it is to be hoped that at the special general meeting of the club it will be proved beyond doubt that the director did write the article, and that the members of the club will make short work of the affair and give the director his deserts.

Steinitz, accompanied by his adopted daughter, Miss Hedwig Steinitz, departed on the steamer Columbia on Thursday, while Pillsbury sailed yesterday. Showalter intends to go on Wednesday. As is well known, the trio will represent America in the international tournament to begin on July 20 in Nurembers.

MRS. STOWE'S LIFE IN HARTFORD.

HER LATER YEARS IN THE LITERARY COLONY THERE.

Hartford, July 4 (Special).-The life of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe in Hartford has been one of the interesting features of the city, and her modest home, on one of the most beautiful streets in the midst of the literary colony, has always been a point of interest. Her frequent walks with her nurse made her a familiar figure. When she first came to this city to live she built a house on the banks of the Little River in the settlement known as Glenwood, but the occasion not proving pleasant or al-together healthful, she purchased the house on Forest-st., where she lived for many years, and from which her body was taken to Andover. Mass., yesterday. Her near neighbors were Mark Twain, Charles Dudley Warner, Will Gillette, the uthor-actor, and Dr. Richard Burton, son of her old friend, the Rev. Dr. Nathaniel J. Burton, a man of letters, and now the literary critic of "The Courlater years, tenderly cared for by her two daughters, and shown every possible attention and kindness by her friends. She was allowed the freedom of the beautiful grounds that she might walk without being too much in the public gaze, and although she had been failing for a long time, she often had out being too much in the public gaze, and although she had been failing for a long time, she often had moments of brilliancy, and on occasion seemed to raily her faculties from the dulness of old age. Only a few weeks before she died Mrs. Warner was endeavoring to quote a poem which she had forgotten when Mrs. Stowe, to the surprise of those about her, picked up the lines and repeated the entire poem, saying as she closed: "I know that prem, I wrote it myself." Her funeral Thursday, just at evening, was as simple as her life had been, and it was attended by neighbors and friends with many colored people who appeared impressed by the occasion.

Street paving with asphalt, which was to have begun this month, must now be postponed until as late in the autumn as is possible, owing to the unsettled condition of Main-st. since its many upheavals for gas, water, sewer and telephone conduits. It is expected, however, that the work will be done before the season is over.

The report of the internal revenue collector for this district for the year ending July 1 shows a total receipt of $1,089.24 22, being an increase of over $23,000 over last year's receipts, and an excess over any year since 1887. Incidentally, the report shows that there has been a marked decrease in the consumption of distilled liquors and a large increase in tobacco tax is very small.

Postmaster Furlong has succeeded in getting a recommendation from the postafice which will give much added room to the working force, but at some expense to the public, which will have less space than formerly.

A DISPUTE BETWEEN PRECINCTS.

Because of a dispute between the police of two precincts John Berry, sixty-seven years old, of No. 228 Mulberry-st., who was arrested for drunkenness in the Bowery Friday night, was committed to prison in the Essex Market Court yesterday by Magistrate Simms in default of $200 bail. When Berry was arraigned Policeman Zelsky, of the El-dridge-st station, who made the arrest, testified that dridge-st state of the could not swear that the man was drunk, and believed that he was not. He said he was ordered to arrest the man by Sergeant Strope, of the Mul-berry-st. station. The Bowery is the dividing line between the two precincts. The sergeant crossed is officially settled.

NEWS OF THE WEEK IN PROVIDENCE.

IMPROVEMENTS IN ROGER WILLIAMS PARK-THE COTTON GOODS CURTAILMENT.

of Independence Day was more elaborate than usual. It consisted of a military and civic parade in the orning, followed by patriotic exercises in the old Beneficent Congregational Church, with an oration by Solon W. Stevens, of the Massachusetts Sons of the American Revolution, and the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Professor Alonzo Williams, of this city. In the afternoon the tenth championship regatta of the New-England Amateur Regatta Association took place on the Seekonk River. There were also day fireworks and a band concert on Dexter Training Field. In the evening the feature was an illuminated bicycle parade of great proportions. The sale of firecrackers is prohib-ited this year, and this conduced somewhat to a less noisy celebration of the Fourth than a year ago, and to fewer accidents and fires.

Great improvements are being made at Roger Williams Park, not the least of which was the dredging of the meadow formerly called Cunliff's Pond, so that when the dam is completed to hold the water back a splendid lake will be the result, with a shore line of more than five miles.

line of more than five miles.

The Board of Aldermen adjourned for the summer Thursday executing, after defeating the proposition to establish an electric lighting plant by the vote of six to three. They drew the names of more than 300 men to act as jurors this year, and in the list are the names of R. H. I. Goddard, William H. Luther, Theodore W. Foster, Luciag Sharpe, Alfred Stone, Fred E. Field, ex-Mayor Frank F. Oliney and others of equal prominence in the community.

There is great joy in Providence over the victory of the Brown University baseball club at Chicago. Brown has won nineteen games and lost four during the season, and claims the champioinship, Princeton to the contrary notwithstanding.

The marriage of Baron Louis de Levay and Miss Blanche Francesca De Wolf took place at Bristoi last evening. Baron de Levay is a Hungarian, and a man of some prominence in his own country. Miss De Wolf is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank De Wolf, an old Bristoi family. It had been proposed to have two weddings, one a Catholic wedding at the church in the morning and the other a Protestant wedding at the house in the evening, but it is understood that Archbishop Williams refused to give his consent. After an elaborate and brilliant reception, the bridal pair departed for Newport in a landar drawn by six horses.

The Rhode Island delegates to the Chicago Convention started for the convention city to-day, It is said that the member of the Committee on Resolutions from Rhode Island will be David S. Baker, and that the next National Committeeman will, without doubt, be Richard B. Comstock. The delegation is solidly for a gold platform, and has no choice for a candidate outside Whitney or Russell.

The spindles and longs controlled by the Knight, Goddard and Cance interests affected by the agreement to curtail production of cotton goods amount to 788 130 spindles and 19,423 looms when fully employed. It is said that a sufficient number of manufacturers have signed the agreement to control more than 4,600,000 spindles The Board of Aldermen adjourned for the summer

CARRIAGE TRADE NOTES.

Van Tassell & Kearney, in Thirteenth-st., near Third-ave, are now exhibiting a very extensive line of seasonable carriages and traps, which they are closing out at less than cost. Intending buyers will do well to note the fact. This firm devotes an entire building to the care and storage of fine car-

Schildwachter, of Park-ave, and One-hundred-and-twenty-eighth-st., says that business is increasing instead of tapering off as usual at this season. He has carriages of every description, new and second-hand, which he will sell away below their values to make room for his extensive repair trade. R. M. Stivers, in Thirty-first-st., near Third-ave, is showing a full line of breaking carts, wagonettes and fancy traps in every variety of trimming and painting, and of exclusive designs, at right pricea. A neater or prettier assortment of phaetons cannot be found in New-York than that shown by J. 7. Schildwachter, of Park-ave. and One-hundred-andis specially attractive, and commends itself to every one at sight. The open-top light spliler is comewhat of a novelty and is rapidly gaining favor with exclusive buyers.

Studebaker Bros, in Canal-st., near Broadway, report trade as unusually brisk for this season of the year. They are exhibiting a notably fine lot of traps for city or country use at extremely low prices.

H. M. Duncan, of Nos. 487 and 489 Fifth-ave., says that business is still good, but that the demand for light traps has lost the vim and snap of the earlier season. However, phaetons, cabriolets, victorias and other pleasure carriages are yet in demand by the better class of buyers.

C. C. Downey & Co., No. 143 West Frity-first-st., have one of the best-patronized repair shops on the West Side. Mr. Downey's long connection with the old house of J. B. Brewster & Co. in that department has gained him a host of customers.

PROSPERITY AT MANHATTAN.

Pain gets over the difficulty of a stormy night by closing his arena and allowing his employes a holiday. Although the inclement weather of June was unwelcome to them, the managers did not use their good humor over it. So far from being discouraged by the unreasonable conduct of the barometer, Rice's countenance is marked at "set fair," and he has given orders to a jewelry of this city to prepare a souvenir for the fifteen performance of "Evangeline," which will be ever broom, engraved with the famous lever to the Circus Carnival since the opening performance. The brothers Le Moyne are both entertains and amusing in their triple horizontal bar acting and amusing and amusing and amusing and amusing the performance, and it would be impossible to carried eight finer specimens of Arabian Sheilands.

Tatall, Lavell, Abachi, Fernandez, the Rixter and the discussion of the existing bicycle craze, has decided to offer 3200 in prises for the neatest-costumed and most graceful riders, the competition to take place in the circus ring at the end of each evening's performance, beginning to morrow. The contest is open to all, and full particulars can be obtained by addressing E. E. Rice at an acting the performance.
